Reading Olympics Competition Program - 2018-2019

Do you love to read? Do you enjoy a friendly reading competition? Then Reading Olympics is for you! We are given a list of 45 books to read for the competition in early Spring held at Easton High School. Middle schools from the Lehigh Valley and surrounding areas compete in the competition. We meet each week on a Wednesday in the library and check out /discuss / write summaries for the books. When it gets closer to the competition date, we choose teams, write questions about the books, quiz each other and google hangout with other middle school teams to prepare. We have fun too! We hold a contest to design our t-shirt for the competition and have bake sales. Last year, we took three teams and placed first, second and third out of 40 schools! We are very proud of this! If this is something you are interested in, have the attached permission form filled out and signed, then put it in the returned Reading Olympics forms folder in the library no later than October 3rd. We will begin officially meeting for the year on Wednesday, October 10th. Books are already available to check out in the library. You can also give the completed forms to Mrs. Nonnemacher or Mr. Pearson. We are looking forward to a great year!
